What the Blessed Man Rejects compiled by Rev. Alex Kyobe.

The first thing we learn in Psalm 1 about what defines the person who enjoys so much blessedness is what he rejects.

Blessed is the man, who walks not in the counsel of the wicked, nor stands in the way of sinners, nor sits in the seat of scoffers. (Ps. 1:1)

He does not walk, or stand, or sit. These words seem to describe a progression of engagement that makes its way through “thinking, behaving, and belonging.” He doesn’t absorb the ideas and values or follow the advice of those who live their lives assuming that God is irrelevant. He doesn’t conform to the behaviour or lifestyle of those who sin with no conscience. He doesn’t keep company with cynics who get a good laugh by making fun of the things of God.

It’s not that this person isn’t tempted by the materialism and hedonism and cynicism of those around him. It’s not that he has put his head into the sand and retreated from engaging with the culture. This is a person who refuses to let that culture shape how he thinks, what he does, and what he enjoys. Does this describe you? Are you the “man” of Psalm 1?

Are you the single woman who finds herself alone because you refuse to enter into the hook-up culture that is considered to be enjoying a healthy sex life?

Are you the one on the outs with the office crowd because you don’t laugh at the crude sexual humour everybody else finds so funny?

Are you the mom or dad who is willing to be unpopular with the team and/or the coach because you put the worship of God with God’s family before the game that is scheduled for when your church family gathers to worship?

Are you the high-school or college student who will not sit on your couch and watch that terribly funny comedian who mocks not only religion (which oftentimes deserves to be mocked) but also the Christ you love and the truths you hold dear?

What the Blessed Man Expects; So the person who enjoys this blessedness is defined by what he rejects and what he enjoys. The psalmist continues helping us to understand and desire this blessedness by describing what this person expects, using contrasting similes. He is like a tree planted by streams of water that yields its fruit in its season, and its leaf does not wither. (Ps. 1:3) This is not a tree that just happened to sprout up any ol’ place. It has been expertly placed by the one who planted it in suitable soil by streams of water where its roots can go deep and draw the nourishment it needs to be fruitful. It produces what it is meant to produce. The sun beats down on it, and the harsh winds blow against it, and it does not wither away. In a word, this man is secure. He’s not easily blown off course but is durable and fruitful. The Word at work in his life is producing what it is meant to produce—love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, gentleness, faithfulness, and self-control (Gal. 5:22). It’s not that he never expects to face difficulty; it’s that when he does, his roots are so deep in God that he is not shaken. The psalmist then shifts away from the simile of the tree and says outright: In all that he does, he prospers. (Ps. 1:3). What does the psalmist mean here? What kind of prosperity is he talking about? Does this mean that if you delight in the Word of God and meditate enough, your business will make a big profit, and you’ll have the family you always dreamed of, and you won’t have car accidents or get cancer? It might. Those who walk according to God’s law avoid paths of sin that often result in pain and misery.
